The Territory’s premier exploration event

The Territory continues to offer outstanding opportunities for both minerals and petroleum explorers. Major investment in new geoscience data from the Northern Territory Geological Survey and its partners under the Creating Opportunities for Resource Exploration (CORE) initiative, is providing exciting insights into the untapped potential of under-explored areas in the Territory.

Join us in Alice Springs on 15–16th March 2016 for the 17th Annual Geoscience Exploration Seminar (AGES), where a mix of NTGS and industry presentations will showcase the rich minerals and petroleum potential of the Northern Territory. AGES is a technical conference that presents a unique opportunity for you to access the latest in fresh exploration ideas and geoscientific data from the Territory and to network with colleagues who share an interest in the discovery and development of the Territory’s minerals and oil and gas resources. Around 220 people attended the event in 2015.

Seminar highlights

- first release of interpreted seismic data across the Tennant Creek mineral field
- the latest information on new geoscience and exploration success for shale gas in the Beetaloo Sub-basin
- technical updates on successful exploration programs and new discoveries from across the Territory for copper, zinc, gold, oil and gas and more
- new concepts on stratigraphy, basin architecture and mineral fertility of the Amadeus Basin
- dedicated session on the McArthur Basin including the release of new geoscience and shale geochemistry datasets, discussion of geophysical techniques for exploration, and release of an expanded 3D model that includes the McArthur Group and equivalents
- results of recent mapping and copper mineral systems studies in the Arunta Region
- practical information to assist you with issues such as land access, titles and accessing geoscience data
- the AGES dinner – the premier networking and social event for the NT exploration industry

AGES also incorporates the Mining Services Expo – a showcase of Northern Territory businesses and their capabilities to support your exploration and mining ventures.
